SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Mr. Speaker, Members of the Legislative Assembly, honoured guests, people of Saskatchewan, welcome to the opening of the Fourth Session of the Twenty-Seventh Legislature.

We gather today during the season of Thanksgiving. Today in Saskatchewan, there is much to be thankful for. Saskatchewan is strong. Our province is growing. There are more people living here than ever before. More people are choosing to stay in Saskatchewan. More people are coming from other provinces and other countries. More people are working in Saskatchewan than ever before. In June, employment hit a record high of 577,000 people working in our province. In July, unemployment hit a record low of 3.2 per cent – the lowest unemployment rate ever recorded. In September, Saskatchewan had the lowest unemployment rate and the fastest rate of job creation anywhere in Canada. Saskatchewan people are earning more than ever before and they are keeping more of what they earn, thanks to lower taxes.

Our province has a balanced budget. During this Session, my government will again demonstrate its commitment to sound financial management by delivering its eighth consecutive balanced budget. Because of my government's commitment to sound financial management, Moody's recently upgraded Saskatchewan's credit rating to triple-A – their highest possible rating. In providing the upgrade, Moody's said: "Saskatchewan's triple-A rating reflects the province's fiscal discipline and sustained low debt levels, which underscore prudent financial management practices."

The numbers demonstrate that Saskatchewan is strong. But while these numbers are impressive, the true strength of our province is found in the compassion and generosity of its people. This was never more apparent than during the flooding earlier this year, when friends, neighbours, and family members rallied to help one another as the waters rose. On the Henderson farm north of Carievale in southeast Saskatchewan, the call went out for sandbaggers. Within 20 minutes, 200 people responded and laid down close to 3,000 sandbags around the Hendersons' home, sparing it from the flood. Jennifer Henderson said she couldn't believe her eyes when she saw how many people came to her family's aid. "It was amazing," she said. "And the spirit has not stopped. I'm an American who married a Canadian. And I'm so darned happy to be a Canadian today." That quick action near Carievale was mirrored in dozens of other locations across the province, affirming once again that Saskatchewan is strong because our sense of community is strong.

A PROVINCE ASCENDING

Saskatchewan's economic star continues to rise. Since 2007, Saskatchewan's exports have increased by 63 per cent, while manufacturing shipments have climbed by more than 50 per cent. Surging demand for our products has created unprecedented opportunity for workers and businesses, and attracted people from across the country and around the world. Saskatchewan's population is now at an all-time high of over 1,125,000 people.

That represents an increase of more than 123,000 people in the past seven years – a far cry from the previous seven years when Saskatchewan's population actually declined. Our province remains on track to reach the population target set by my government of 1.2 million people by 2020, while Statistics Canada has predicted Saskatchewan's population could surpass 1.5 million by 2038. Newcomers are enriching our province through the work they do and the cultures they share. They give life to Saskatchewan's motto: "From Many Peoples Strength."

SUSTAINING THE MOMENTUM

In this Session, my government will continue working hard to keep Saskatchewan strong. A strong economy is the foundation of a strong province with an excellent quality of life for all its people. A strong economy means we are better able to meet the challenges of growth in health care, housing, education, and infrastructure. My government will continue taking the right steps to encourage economic growth.

Saskatchewan's resource sector is strong. The first new potash mine to be built in the province in 40 years, the K + S Legacy project near Bethune, is under construction while multi-billion dollar expansions of existing mines are coming on stream. Uranium production is also increasing, with the opening of Cameco's Cigar Lake mine – the first new uranium mine to be built in Saskatchewan in over a decade. Saskatchewan is setting new records in oil production and the province's forestry industry is making a comeback, with seven mills now operating and two more mills expected to re-open in 2015.

Saskatchewan manufacturers are on track to ship a record amount of product this year. To help meet my government's goal of doubling exports by 2020, it will introduce a new growth tax incentive tied to the creation of new jobs by manufacturers and processors as they expand their sales outside Saskatchewan. This measure will also include a new growth tax incentive for the creation of new corporate and head office jobs in Saskatchewan.

To further support our exporters, my government will maintain its emphasis on international engagement, particularly in Asia, the fastest growing region in the world. In the months ahead, my government will undertake trade missions to key international markets while continuing to support the Saskatchewan Trade and Export Partnership (STEP), which carried out 42 trade missions to 27 countries in 2013.

Recently, my government received the recommendations of the Saskatchewan-Asia Advisory Council, which was appointed to provide advice on trade, innovation, and investment attraction. Our efforts to strengthen trade ties in Asia will be guided by these recommendations. In order to continue the strong growth in exports, we must ship our products to market. We have seen how limited rail capacity can impact our economy. That's why my government is making rail capacity a priority by encouraging railways to increase shipping volumes, by strengthening the short line network, and by working to enhance rail linkages to Canada's coastlines and our biggest trading partner, the United States.

PROMOTING FREE TRADE

My government supports free trade. The Comprehensive European Trade Agreement (CETA) will open many new markets for Saskatchewan exports. The Canada-Korea Free Trade Agreement (CKFTA) will give Saskatchewan exporters equal footing with their European and American counterparts in South Korea's $1.3 trillion economy.

My government will continue working to reduce international trade barriers, such as Country of Origin Labelling regulations in the United States. While international trade barriers are coming down, some barriers remain in place between provinces. This must change. My government has taken a leadership role in enhancing the dispute resolution mechanism within Canada's Agreement on Internal Trade. More can be done to open up trade between provinces. Through the New West Partnership, Saskatchewan is working with Alberta and British Columbia to harmonize labour standards and occupational health and safety regulations. New West Partnership members are urging other provinces to review their regulations in these areas.

My government will look for other opportunities to expand free trade, such as Saskatchewan's agreement with British Columbia to offer consumers in both provinces greater access to locally produced wine and craft spirits. We will also continue to advocate on behalf of industries that are subject to unfair trade practices within Canada, as we did in a successful challenge of the Quebec government's restrictions on the production, sale, and marketing of oil-based dairy products.

My government is working to ensure opportunities for local businesses are maximized within existing trade agreements. Priority Saskatchewan, a new agency, is leading a cross-government review of current tendering practices. To provide further support to local businesses, the Ministry of Central Services has launched the new SaskTenders website. The website will serve as the primary gateway to public sector procurement opportunities in Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia – the member provinces of the New West Partnership.

BUILDING A SKILLED WORKFORCE

A strong workforce means a strong Saskatchewan. But our province continues to face a shortage of skilled labour. In some cases, people are unable to compete for jobs because they lack the skills required to secure employment. To address this situation, my government has invested heavily in Adult Basic Education (ABE) services and is working to eliminate the waitlist for ABE. In the upcoming fiscal year, we will increase the number of ABE training seats by 775, eliminating the 2012 wait list and bringing the total number of seats to 9,355, an increase of nearly 60 per cent since 2007.

My government will boost the number of apprenticeship seats by 300, bringing the total number of seats to 7,000, an 86 per cent increase since 2007. Saskatchewan took a lead role in national negotiations on the design of the new Canada Job Grant, which provides employers with up to $10,000 per worker to cover the cost of training. A few months ago, we were pleased to sign a Canada Job Grant agreement with the federal government. My government is investing $15.7 million in the program, which will link training directly to the needs of employers.

INFRASTRUCTURE

My government has made significant progress tackling the province's infrastructure deficit. Since 2008, ministries and Crown corporations have spent close to $16 billion on a range of capital projects, including hospitals, highways, schools, and power plants. This year alone, nearly $3 billion has been committed to renew and expand the province's infrastructure. But there is more to be done. To meet those challenges, my government is leveraging the forces of innovation and competition through public private partnerships (P3s).

SaskBuilds, created two years ago to help deal with the province's infrastructure demands, has initiated a number of P3 projects. These include:

- Nine joint-use elementary schools located in Regina, Saskatoon, Martensville, and Warman communities; experiencing extraordinary growth;
- The Regina Bypass project, the largest transportation project in Saskatchewan's history; and
- The Saskatchewan Hospital North Battleford – Integrated Correctional Facility.

The 225-bed Swift Current Long-Term Care Centre is now under construction and is expected to save taxpayers $13 million by using the P3 approach. My government will save hundreds of millions of dollars on P3 capital projects – money that can be used for other priorities. Municipalities should also consider P3s to access funding offered by the federal government.

My government has partnered with the city of Saskatoon and the federal government on a P3 project to build the North Commuter Parkway bridge and we have offered to enter into a similar partnership for a second bridge in Prince Albert.

In March, the federal government announced the new $53 billion Building Canada Fund (BCF) to support the construction of roads, bridges, public transit, and other infrastructure projects. To help municipalities take advantage of the new BCF program, my government will reintroduce and expand the popular Saskatchewan Infrastructure Growth Initiative (SIGI). This program provides interest rate subsidies for up to five years on municipal borrowing for infrastructure development. Under the first iteration of SIGI, nearly $200 million in borrowing was approved and 82 communities benefitted from interest rate subsidies.

My government believes Saskatchewan First Nations would also benefit from SIGI so the program will be opened to those First Nations in a position to participate, like Whitecap Dakota under the progressive leadership of Chief Darcy Bear.

PRIVATE LIQUOR STORES

With so many infrastructure priorities in Saskatchewan, my government must make choices, including the choice of what not to fund. Here's one. My government will not spend one more taxpayers' dollar building liquor stores. Instead, those capital dollars will be used for highways, hospitals, schools, and bridges. New liquor stores in the province will be built and operated by the private sector. Today, there are two new private liquor stores operating in Saskatoon and one in Regina, with another in Regina opening soon.

This change has been well received and many people are asking my government to go further. This fall, my government will release an options paper and gather feedback from the public regarding the future of liquor retailing in Saskatchewan.

HIGHWAYS

As Saskatchewan grows, so does the number of vehicles on our roads. Increased traffic and unprecedented flooding have taken a toll on our highways. My government is responding with record investments in highway construction and maintenance. On Highway 16, work has begun on a new twinning project from Saskatoon to Clavet. On Highway 7, new passing lanes between Delisle and Rosetown are under construction. Meanwhile, preconstruction work continues on the twinning of Highway 7 from Vanscoy to Delisle and Highways 6 and 39 from Regina south to Estevan.

My government is also evaluating an innovative proposal from the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities that would use federal, provincial, and municipal funding to leverage private sector investment in rural roads.

EFFICIENT GOVERNMENT

My government recognizes Saskatchewan citizens expect services that are accessible, effective, efficient, and sustainable. Across government, the Lean process is used to improve services for people and businesses. For example, by using Lean, the Ministry of Economy has reduced the time it takes to issue routine permits for oil companies from ten days to one day, while the Ministry of Highways now processes 13,700 more bridge permits annually, double the previous volume.

HEALTH CARE

The purpose of a strong and growing economy is to ensure the best possible quality of life for all Saskatchewan people. Six years ago, my government proceeded with the first ever review of the Saskatchewan health care system from the perspective of patients. The Patient First Review has guided our efforts to make the health care system more responsive, efficient, and effective. In this Session, my government will release an update on the Patient First Review that will highlight areas where progress has been made and areas where improvement is required.

My government recognizes that we need to do more to help people dealing with mental health and addiction problems. In the coming months, the commissioner appointed to lead a review of mental health services in the province will release a 10-year Mental Health and Addictions Action Plan. The plan will inform our efforts to improve services and supports for patients and their families.

Last year, my government announced the creation of the Urgent Action Fund to improve the quality of care for residents of long-term care homes. We have provided $10 million to health regions for specific initiatives and an additional $3.7 million for ongoing programs. This funding will be used to purchase 700 pieces of equipment, hire additional staff, and support staff training.

In 2009, my government established the Saskatchewan Surgical Initiative and set a bold objective of ensuring no patient would wait more than three months for surgery. Thanks to a significant effort within the health care system, the number of patients waiting more than three months for surgery is down 81 per cent. While the Saskatchewan Surgical Initiative has concluded, we will continue working to improve the system and reduce surgical wait times. Patients in our health care system need to be assured their privacy is protected.

This Session, my government will amend The Health Information Protection Act to strengthen provisions protecting patient privacy. This includes stronger measures to prevent the unauthorized viewing of patient records and a provision authorizing the Minister of Health to appoint a person or body to take control of abandoned patient records.

My government will amend The Human Tissue Gift Act to modernize Saskatchewan's organ donation and transplantation processes to reduce wait times for people who need organ transplants. Among those who will benefit are 100 people who have waited up to two years for a cornea transplant. My government will amend The Pharmacy Act to enhance the scope of practice for pharmacists by giving them the authority to administer vaccinations and other drugs as well as ordering, accessing and using lab tests.

My government will continue to focus on retaining and attracting health care professionals. Much progress has been made in the last few years. Since 2007, the number of doctors practicing in the province has increased by over 400 while the number of nurses in all designations has increased by more than 2,600.

EDUCATION

Our province's schools are a vital part of a strong Saskatchewan. My government recently received the results of its historic Student First consultation. More than 120 engagement sessions were held involving nearly 1,000 students, parents, caregivers and teachers from across the province and more than 1,500 submissions were received online. The information gathered will be considered as my government works with its partners to develop an education system that truly puts the student first.

In this Session, my government will introduce legislation to make the regulatory process for teachers similar to that in other jurisdictions and other professional bodies within our province. Over the last seven years, my government has spent more than $700 million on education infrastructure – a 268 per cent increase. Forty new schools have been built or are in the planning stage. This year, new schools have opened or will open soon in Swift Current, Lloydminster, White City, Regina, and Saskatoon. Schools in La Ronge and Lumsden have undergone major renovations. My government will continue to invest in the province's school system to meet the challenges of growth.

POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION

Our universities, technical institutions, and regional colleges play a vital role providing the leaders of tomorrow with the skills and training needed to succeed. That is why my government continues to make post-secondary education a priority by providing record support for students and institutions. Programs such as the Saskatchewan Advantage Scholarship, the Saskatchewan Advantage Grant for Education Savings, and the Graduate Retention Program have made post-secondary education more accessible and affordable. Since 2008, the Graduate Retention Program has provided $130 million in rebates to more than 50,000 students who have chosen to stay in Saskatchewan after graduation.

Aboriginal enrolment in post-secondary institutions is increasing. My government will continue to support the Saskatchewan Indian Institute of Technology, the First Nations University of Canada, Gabriel Dumont Institute, and all post-secondary institutions to ensure First Nations and Métis students have the support they require to complete their studies.

Recent legislation has enabled more institutions to offer degree programs. During the last few months, the Saskatchewan Institute of Applied Science and Technology has officially become known as Saskatchewan Polytechnic. This will create more opportunities for students and will help meet the needs of employers. Many regional colleges in Saskatchewan have insufficient internet bandwidth to accommodate the needs of their students. The Ministry of Advanced Education will work with SaskTel to upgrade internet access and speed at regional colleges to ensure students and teachers have sufficient bandwidth to accommodate their current requirements and growth in future years.

INNOVATION

Earlier this month, people from around the world gathered at Boundary Dam Power Station near Estevan as SaskPower opened the first commercial power plant in the world with a fully integrated post-combustion carbon capture system.

More than 90 per cent of the carbon dioxide emitted at Boundary Dam 3 will be captured and stored for use in enhanced oil recovery operations in mature oil fields. This is the equivalent of taking more than 250,000 vehicles off Saskatchewan roads each year. Boundary Dam 3 strengthens Saskatchewan's reputation as a global leader in carbon capture and storage research. SaskPower has established a global CCS consortium to share knowledge and best practices with other utilities and researchers.

Construction of Saskatchewan's cyclotron and radioisotope facility at the University of Saskatchewan is in the final stages. The $25.5 million laboratory is a partnership between the federal government, the province, and the university. The laboratory will provide Saskatchewan researchers with the resources they require to develop radiopharmaceuticals – drugs containing radioactive materials. These drugs can be used to detect, diagnose and treat diseases such as cancer, Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, and multiple sclerosis. The laboratory will be managed and operated by the Sylvia Fedoruk Canadian Centre for Nuclear Innovation.

SUPPORTING COMMUNITIES

My government is working closely with our municipal partners to address the challenges of growth. As a result of the province's predictable and sustainable revenue sharing program, municipalities already know they will receive record revenue sharing of $265 million in next year's budget – more than double what it was when my government took office.

Earlier this year, Saskatchewan was once again hit hard by flooding. My government responded by establishing 11 recovery centres, including three in First Nations communities. These were one-stop points of access staffed by representatives from ministries, Crown corporations, the Canadian Red Cross, Samaritan's Purse Canada, and other organizations to help individuals and families affected by flooding.

So far this year, the Provincial Disaster Assistance Program (PDAP) has determined more than 325 municipalities and First Nations, and individuals living in those communities who were affected by flooding, are eligible for assistance under the program. PDAP has completed or is in the process of completing well over 3,000 claims from this year's flooding.

AGRICULTURE

Saskatchewan's agriculture sector is strong, contributing $4.5 billion to Saskatchewan's gross domestic product and sustaining 50,000 direct and indirect jobs. My government is committed to serving as a strong advocate for agriculture.

Last year, when the Canadian rail system was failing to move a record crop to market, we urged the federal government to bring forward legislation compelling the railways to move more grain. In the coming weeks, Saskatchewan will host a New West Partnership transportation and market access summit to discuss long term improvements to Western Canada's transportation system. We need an efficient transportation system because the success of our agriculture industry depends on our ability to export. In 2013, Saskatchewan set a record for agriculture exports for a third consecutive year with sales of $11.7 billion, and we are on track to meet our goal of increasing agriculture exports to $15 billion by 2020.

Today's agricultural sector also requires more improved internet and cell phone service. SaskTel's rural strategy will see the expansion of high speed internet into another 54 communities by the end of the year. SaskTel is also doubling the available internet speed in 220 rural communities and improving cell phone service in 111 rural communities by adding more capacity to its 4G network. This is in addition to the 318 rural communities that have already received improved internet service and upgrades to cellular service in more than 500 locations since 2007.

SAFE COMMUNITIES

My government is mindful of its responsibility to protect the most vulnerable in society. That is why, during the summer, we established the new Counsel for Children Office. The Office will ensure all children in protection proceedings can have access to legal counsel when decisions are being made about their future, such as where and with whom they are going to live.

This fall, the Ministry of Justice announced enhancements to the Victims Compensation Program. The Ministry will also be introducing amendments to The Victims of Domestic Violence Act to expand the ability of police and the justice system to protect victims of violence and abuse. Following a trial or hearing, court judgments ordering one party to pay money to another are not always obeyed. My government will amend The Enforcement of Money Judgments Act to improve enforcement mechanisms. Improving access to the justice system for all makes Saskatchewan a fairer, safer place to live.

This fall, my government will introduce legislation to expand fee waivers to all three levels of Saskatchewan's courts, making the justice system more accessible to low-income people. By the end of the year, my government will expand the HUB model of crime prevention to Meadow Lake and Melfort, bringing the number of communities operating the program to 13, including Prince Albert, Yorkton, La Ronge, North Battleford, Moose Jaw, Estevan, Weyburn, Nipawin, Swift Current, Saskatoon, and Lloydminster.

Two more communities will be added to the list in the first quarter of 2015. The HUB brings together police, government ministries, and community agencies to share information and identify situations that could lead to criminal behavior. Communities in Ontario, Alberta, Manitoba, and Nova Scotia are following Saskatchewan's lead by implementing this successful crime prevention program.

SOCIAL SERVICES

My government is aware there is a close relationship between the availability of safe, affordable housing and quality of life. In the Saskatchewan Plan for Growth, we committed $344 million to boost the supply of housing in the province, particularly for low- and moderate-income families. In 2013, the number of rental housing units started was nearly 34 times higher than in 2006. Today, the vacancy rate in Saskatchewan is 3.3 per cent, which is higher than the national average.

My government has decreased waiting lists for families needing housing and has increased supports for the homeless. At the same time, we are increasing opportunities for low-income families to own homes, in cooperation with organizations like Habitat for Humanity. Since 2009, my government has committed $7.85 million to assist Habitat for Humanity build 134 houses in 12 communities.

My government has pledged to make Saskatchewan the best place to live for persons with disabilities. The Saskatchewan Assured Income for Disability (SAID) program is an important part of our effort to fulfill that promise. There are now close to 13,000 households in the province enrolled in SAID, a 250 per cent increase since the program was introduced in 2009.

My government wants to ensure all children in the province can live with their families in safety. To help meet this goal, my government is conducting a comprehensive review of its child welfare legislation. The review began this spring with an online discussion guide and meetings with stakeholders. The objective of the review is to strengthen The Child and Family Services Act and The Adoption Act.

Earlier this year, my government was pleased to announce the opening of the Sweet Dreams home in Saskatoon. Sweet Dreams will provide at-risk single mothers with affordable housing and support while they complete their education and learn life and parenting skills. This project was made possible through a Social Impact Bond funding model – the first of its kind in Canada.

My government will continue to explore other opportunities for Social Impact Bonds to make a positive difference in Saskatchewan communities. Saskatchewan has the second lowest poverty rate in Canada. However, we know there is still more work to do. My government is pleased to announce the development of a Poverty Reduction Strategy and thank the organization Poverty Costs for its work on this important issue under the leadership of individuals like Alison Robertson, Dr. Ryan Meili, and Dr. Cory Neudorf.

PARKS, CULTURE AND SPORT

Saskatchewan's unprecedented growth has allowed my government to invest in the province's extensive provincial park system. Since 2007, my government has committed $71 million to improve the camping experience in our parks, including adding 1,400 new electrified camping sites.

Saskatchewan's lottery system supports 12,000 non-profit sport, culture, and recreational organizations. Recently, Sask Sport, SaskCulture, and the Saskatchewan Parks and Recreation Association signed a five-year lottery agreement to provide funding stability and allow these organizations to maintain quality programs and services.

Last year alone, $52 million was distributed to these organizations. Hockey and curling rinks are vital to community life in rural Saskatchewan. To assist with the cost of operating rinks, my government introduced the Community Rink Affordability Grant program in 2012.

More than $3.2 million has been invested in the program during the last two years, with more than 380 communities benefiting. This year, my government has committed another $1.7 million to the program. The Main Street Saskatchewan program offers a community driven approach to revitalizing historic downtown and commercial areas. Since its introduction, Main Street Saskatchewan has leveraged 10 dollars in private sector investment for every dollar invested by the government.

The results can be seen in communities like Maple Creek, where a group of new residents from the Philippines invested in Maple Creek's historic Commercial Hotel, which was damaged by flooding in 2010. The owners of the hotel received $32,000 from the Main Street Saskatchewan program and the hotel is now a thriving business.

My government is pleased Creative Saskatchewan is now fully operational. To date, $7.7 million has been provided to support the marketing and development of all creative industries in Saskatchewan. This includes $3.4 million distributed to the film industry, $2 million to the music industry, $1.1 million to the visual arts sector, and $800,000 to the publishing industry.

ENVIRONMENT

My government believes economic growth and environmental protection are compatible objectives. A clear example of this is the Boundary Dam 3 project, which will demonstrate to the world it is possible to significantly reduce carbon dioxide emissions while generating the electricity needed to sustain growth.

In the coming months, we will adopt a new results based regulatory model that will improve protection of the environment and promote innovative management tools, including the Saskatchewan Environmental Code. This approach will allow industry and communities to develop innovative solutions to meet environmental protection objectives while allowing the Ministry of Environment to dedicate more resources to activities that pose the greatest environmental risk.

This Session, my government will amend The Wildlife Act to increase penalties for illegal hunting. The amendments include:

- Increasing the hunting suspension for serious violations from one to two years;
- Prohibiting those who have not paid a hunting fine from buying a licence; and
- Prohibiting any Canadian resident suspended from hunting or fishing in another jurisdiction from purchasing a licence in Saskatchewan. In addition, those convicted of three serious wildlife offences will be banned for life from hunting in Saskatchewan.

My government has undertaken an online drainage consultation that received nearly 500 submissions and will carry out further consultations with stakeholders in the coming months. These consultations will lead to the development of new regulations governing drainage as part of the province's 25 Year Saskatchewan Water Security Plan. This is a priority issue for the Water Security Agency.

HONOURING THOSE WHO SERVE

My government recognizes the sacrifices made by the men and women who choose to serve our country in the Canadian Armed Forces and the sacrifices made by their families. In 2009, my government introduced the Saskatchewan Scholarship of Honour – a $5,000 scholarship available to returning military personnel and to the spouses and children of Canadian Armed Forces members killed or permanently disabled in the service of their country. We are forever indebted to those who have paid the ultimate price for our freedom.

Since 1919, the Government of Canada has awarded the Memorial Cross, sometimes called the Silver Cross, to the loved ones of Canadian Armed Forces personnel who died in service. This fall, my government will make a commemorative licence plate available to recipients of the Memorial Cross.

CONCLUSION

Saskatchewan is strong. This strength comes from our people – their hard work, their determination, their ingenuity, and their generosity. These Saskatchewan values will keep Saskatchewan strong.

I now leave you to the business of the Session, knowing that you will favourably discharge your duties and responsibilities.

May divine providence continue to bless our province and guide this Assembly in all its deliberations.

God bless Saskatchewan. God bless Canada. And God save the Queen.

Her Honour then retired from the Chamber.

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER
(Dispute over the facts)

Yesterday evening the Opposition Deputy House Leader (Mr. Nilson) raised a point of order concerning the remarks made in debate on the budget motion by the Member for Estevan (Ms. Eagles). The Opposition Deputy House Leader stated that certain comments made by the Member for Estevan are not accurate and contravened Rule 51. To support his point, he asked the Speaker to review the video record of debate on November 4, 2013. I have reviewed the comments made by the Member for Estevan last evening, especially in connection to remarks made during the Address-in-Reply debate on November 4, 2013, which I surmise is at the heart of the point of order.

It would appear that the situation I've been asked to consider is based on the interpretation by various Members of remarks made both on and off the record. This puts the Speaker in a very difficult position, especially when not all the remarks are on the record. Furthermore, Members know that it is impossible for the Speaker to determine the accuracy of comments made in debate let alone the intent of remarks thrown across the floor. Through debate Members have the opportunity to question and explain comments made in speeches and to say when they feel they have been misquoted or misunderstood. This of course should be done within the bounds of decorum and respectful of one another. I think all Members have honourable intentions but on occasion we do end up with situations when misunderstandings cause hard feelings. This appears to be a misunderstanding that goes back some considerable time.

As Speaker, I appreciate the sensitivity on both sides of this matter but I cannot find a breach of order. I encourage Members to resolve differences of this type by talking to one another rather than letting wounds fester. The problem is only exacerbated when hurt feelings seep into debate. This is a good example of that. I also want to strongly remind Members about Rule 47, with respect to loud private conversations and guffawing. I ask that Members conduct themselves in a manner that respects the Member who has the floor. I offer this advice for reflection by all Members. In summary I find that the point of order is not well taken.

PRAYERS

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER
(Ruling on Bill No. 611 – Requirement for a Royal Recommendation)

Standing on the Order Paper for Second Reading under the name of the Member for Saskatoon Centre (Mr. Forbes) is Bill No. 611 – The Student Bill of Rights Act, 2015. The bill was introduced on April 16, 2015.

It is the Speaker's duty to review all bills with respect to Rule 67 of the Rules and Procedures of the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan. The rule states, in part, that any bill which proposes to impose any new or additional charge upon the public revenue must be first recommended by the Lieutenant Governor before it is considered by the Assembly. The practice in this Assembly is for bills to be introduced and read the first time with further progress being contingent upon the Speaker affirming that they are in order under Rule 67. In Saskatchewan practice, consideration is taken to mean the first opportunity for debate. Pursuant to Rule 24(3), this bill could be designated for priority consideration today and taken up for Second Reading on Thursday. For this reason it is necessary for me to rule today on the admissibility of this bill.

When a private Member proposes a public bill to the Assembly, the test is to determine if it imposes a new responsibility, task or commitment on the government that requires expenditure from the public treasury. Bill No. 611 proposes a Student Bill of Rights, which is set out in clause 3 and further defined by the interpretation clauses. Under The Education Act, 1995 the government is responsible for setting the operating grants for the provincial education system and in doing so is responsible for requiring compliance with any terms and conditions that may be imposed on a grant. In this regard, the Minister has discretion to approve or reject any term or condition on funding.

The bill limits that discretion, and in my view would impose a contingent liability on the government to meet the standards imposed by Bill No. 611, if it were to pass into law. It follows that it would be the duty of the government, through its responsibility to provide operating grants, to fund the costs connected with the imposition of the Student Bill of Rights.

Erskine May, 24th edition, p. 747, states that a Crown recommendation is required for "any proposal whereby the Crown would incur a liability or a contingent liability payable out of money voted by Parliament." May also states in the same section the following: "If there is any doubt on the matter and it appears that the new proposal may entail an extension of previously enacted purposes of expenditure or an increase in the expenditure potentially liable to be incurred in pursuit of such a purpose, a Money resolution will be required."

I have expressed my concern over the contingent liability that would result from the passage of Bill No. 611. For that reason, I must rule that Bill No. 611 requires a Crown recommendation and because the Member for Saskatoon Centre is not a member of the Executive Council, I must rule that the bill is out of order and direct that is removed from the Order Paper.

Thereupon, Bill No. 611 was withdrawn.

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER
(Unparliamentary Language)

On Thursday, April 30, 2015 a point of order was raised by the Opposition House Leader (Mr. McCall). The Opposition House Leader indicated that the Member from Cutknife-Turtleford (Mr. Doke) used language during Members' Statements, which repeatedly has been found to be unparliamentary. He cited three occasions when Ministers have apologized for using similar language.

I have reviewed the record and at page 7059 of Hansard, the Member from Cutknife-Turtleford stated the following, which I quote: "the NDP is just making stuff up". I have reviewed the past instances of this type of language and find that on March 23, 2015, March 19, 2015, and March 25, 2013 Members have withdrawn and apologized for similar comments. Therefore, I find the point of order well taken.

Before calling on the Member to withdraw the remarks, I want to comment about how some points of order have been raised recently. It would be helpful to the Chair if the alleged breach of order is clearly articulated. I would ask Members to be much more specific when they raise and respond to points of order.

I now call on the Member for Cutknife-Turtleford to withdraw and apologize for the cited unparliamentary remark.

Thereupon, the Member for Cutknife-Turtleford withdrew his remarks and apologized.

PRAYERS

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER
(Ruling on Bill No. 613 – Requirement for a Royal Recommendation)

Standing on the Order Paper for Second Reading under the name of the Member for Saskatoon Nutana (Ms. Sproule), is Bill No. 613 – The Green Energy, Green Jobs and Diversified, Sustainable Economy Act. The bill was introduced on May 4, 2015.

As Speaker it is my obligation to ensure that all bills are reviewed to determine whether a royal recommendation is required. The authority is found in Rule 67(1) of The Rules and Procedures of the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan which states and I quote:

> Any vote, resolution, address, or bill introduced in the Assembly for the appropriation of any part of the public revenue, or of any tax or impost to any purpose whatsoever, or to impose any new or additional charge upon the public revenue or upon the people, or to release or compound any sum of money due to the Crown, or to grant any property of the Crown, or to authorize any loan or any charge upon the credit of the province, shall be recommended to the Assembly by Message of the Lieutenant Governor before it is considered by the Assembly. (See section 54 and 90 of the Constitution Act, 1867.)

The practice in this Assembly is for bills to be introduced and read the first time with further progress being contingent upon the Speaker affirming that they are in order under Rule 67. In Saskatchewan practice, consideration is taken to mean the first opportunity for debate. Pursuant to Rule 24(3), this bill could be designated for priority consideration. For this reason it is necessary for me to rule on the admissibility of this bill.

When a private Member proposes a public bill to the Assembly the test is to determine if it imposes a new responsibility, task, or commitment on the government that requires expenditure from the public treasury. That is, is there existing legislative authority for the expenditure of public funds?

Bill No. 613 – The Green Energy, Green Jobs and Diversified, Sustainable Economy Act focuses on the promotion of energy efficiency, energy conservation, and renewable energy. The bill sets out specific reductions in electrical usage and greenhouse gas emissions while detailing specific targets for electricity generated from renewable energy sources. Clause 6 of the bill requires the government to use existing resources.

The inclusion of this non-appropriation clause in effect requires that the new targets must be achieved within existing resources. In the absence of clause 6, this bill imposes substantial financial commitments for current and future governments. The new and significant duties and costs outlined in the bill contain legislated reductions in electrical usage, greenhouse gas emissions, and specific targets for non-hydro renewable energy sources.

It is a well-established principle and detailed in several former Speaker's rulings that a charge upon the public revenue for new or increased expenditures which are not already covered by legislative authorization require a royal recommendation from the Crown. There may be legislative authority to promote energy conservation, energy efficiency, fostering the growth of renewable energy projects, transitioning to clean, renewable energy sources, and reducing greenhouse gas emissions. Bill No. 613 goes further to provide specific targets to be met by 2050. These provisions require the government over the next 35 years to achieve the targets outlined in clauses 3, 4 and 5. Clause 6 of the bill requires that the costs to achieve the targets must be from "using the existing resources available to them". It is not reasonable to expect that the requirements to use existing resources could be sustained into perpetuity.

On April 7, 1997, Speaker Hagel ruled a similar non-appropriation provision out of order. The Private Member's bill sought to create a Health Ombudsman and Office of a Health Ombudsman. That bill established that the Health Ombudsman would not be remunerated or reimbursed from the general revenue fund, but may act on a fee for services basis. The bill provided no indication of how to fund the office's accommodation, equipment, and other administrative expenses. Speaker Hagel ruled that "it is reasonable to expect that such operating costs will be incurred which consequently will create a charge on public moneys".

I find that clause 6, the non-appropriation clause in Bill No. 613 is of a similar nature. In the absence of the non-appropriation clause the bill would require a royal recommendation. The non-appropriation clause is used as a procedural device to avoid the conditions set out in Rule 67. For that reason I must rule that Bill No. 613 requires a Crown recommendation and because the Member for Saskatoon Nutana is not a member of the Executive Council, I must rule that the bill is out of order and direct that it is removed from the Order Paper.

Thereupon, Bill No. 613 was withdrawn.

PRAYERS

STATEMENT BY THE SPEAKER
(Unparliamentary Language)

On Monday, October 19, 2015, the Opposition House Leader (Mr. McCall) raised a point of order about comments made by the Minister of Justice and Attorney General (Hon. Mr. Wyant) during Question Period. The Opposition House Leader indicated that the Minister used the expression, "continues to try to mislead" and that the language used by the Minister be ruled unparliamentary. In response, the Government House Leader (Hon. Mr. Cheveldayoff) made reference that the Speaker had dealt with the issue earlier in the debate. Upon further review of the verbatim and previous Speakers' rulings I would like to clarify how our Assembly has dealt with similar circumstances. I was precipitous in my ruling yesterday and upon further review of the Hansard record, I will now rule on this matter.

I would like to draw to the attention of Members that on March 7, 2011 the comment and I quote, "would like to mislead the public into believing" led to the Member apologizing and withdrawing the statement. Further on April 22, 2010, a Member indicated that a comment was taken out of context in order to mislead the public. In this instance the Speaker ruled that the comments were out of order and asked the Member to apologize and withdraw.

With regards to yesterday's comments, at page 7356 of Hansard the Minister of Justice and Attorney General stated and I quote, "the opposition continues to put, continues to try to mislead the public with respect to this project". Speakers have ruled this type of language out of order. Therefore based on previous rulings I find that the Minister's comments are out of order and ask that the Minister apologize and withdraw the unparliamentary language.

Thereupon, the Minister of Justice and Attorney General apologized and withdrew his remarks.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 585, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: Why was the location of the Highway1 bypass at Tower road the best location to serve the community for 50 years as stated by the ministry of Highways?

Answer:

This location was deemed to be the best option as it took into consideration several criteria:

- Generally accepted engineering principals and the Transportation Association of Canada Standards were used in multiple studies and functional design reports.
- Traffic safety.
- Project cost.
- Proximity to other planned interchanges.
- Planning for future northeast connector.
- Environmental criteria.

As well, significant municipal involvement and public engagement took place during the selection process.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 587, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: Is the complete Regina Highway 1 bypass functional study available to the public?

Answer:

Numerous studies for the Regina Highway 1 bypass have been completed. Results of the studies outlined in Written Question No. 586 have been shared with the public through open houses.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 588, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: (1) Did the study for the bypass in 2012/13 look at all options for the Highway1 bypass including Pilot Butte road, Gravel Pit road, and Tower road? (2) Are these studies publicly available?

Answer:

(1) Yes.
(2) Yes.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 589, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: (1) Considering the bypass is intended to best serve the community for 50 years, did the study look at routes from Balgonie going south and/or Highway 46? (2) What would be the functionality, long-term benefits, and cost differences of these choices compared to the route announced?

Answer:

(1) Yes.
(2) An engineering performance evaluation takes a number of factors into consideration and assigns a 'weight' to each. The outcomes of the 2012 performance evaluation place the selected route ahead of other potential routes.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 591, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: (1) What per cent of the vehicle traffic coming into Regina does the ministry anticipate will use the bypass? (2) What per cent of the truck traffic coming into Regina does the ministry anticipate will use the bypass?

Answer:

(1) The per cent of all vehicles on Highway 1 East, Highway 1 West, and Highway 6 South that are anticipated to use the bypass is approximately 40 per cent. For Highway 33 and Highway 11, this percentage is approximately 30 per cent.
(2) The per cent of trucks on Highway 1 East that are anticipated to use the bypass is approximately 70 per cent.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 592, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: (1) How many people are losing their homes and businesses to the Regina Highway 1 bypass at Tower road? (2) How many people would lose their homes and businesses if the bypass was at Gravel Pit road?

Answer:

(1) Two homes, two businesses, and one ball field facility.
(2) Two to three homes, three to four businesses. Additionally, Pilot Butte and area (including Ochapowace) would lose direct access to Highway 1.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 593, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: Why was the proposed location of Highway 1 bypass moved from Tower road to 400 meters east of Tower road?

Answer:

- Allows a broader turn radius to maintain 110 km/hour, free-flow operation for traffic on Highway 1.
- Provides a high level of service for traffic destined to Victoria Avenue.
- Provides a buffer between the Southeast Regina bypass and existing urban development.
- Can provide a connection to the future Northeast Regina bypass if required.
- Moves Highway 33 interchange away from Chuka Creek and meets long term traffic volumes.
- Provides flexibility for future infrastructure at the Tower road and Victoria Avenue intersection, should it be required.
- Ability to keep all lanes on existing Highway 1 open during construction.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 594, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: Why is the diverging diamond interchange proposed the best interchange to build at Pilot Butte road?

Answer:

The diverging diamond interchange (DDI) has several advantages including:

- Fewer conflict points.
- Better sight distance at turns.
- Ease of left and right turn movements.
- Increased capacity.
- Shorter traffic signal times required.
- Can synchronize traffic signals at ramp terminals to minimize delays.
- U-turns can be easily accommodated.
- Typically requires less right-of-way.
- Construction time reduced.
- The vast majority of open house attendees preferred the DDI.

Mr. Belanger asked the government the following Question No. 595, which was answered by the Hon. Ms. Heppner:

To the Minister of Highways and Infrastructure: (1) Has the diverging diamond interchange ever been built in Canada? (2) What studies were completed? (3) What was the rationale to support the diverging diamond interchange at Pilot Butte?

Answer:

(1) No. However, there are a growing number of diverging diamond interchanges in operation in the United States (US) and Europe.

(2) Following the implementation of diverging diamond interchanges in the US, surveys have been conducted by transportation officials seeking feedback as to the ease of travel, perceived operations and safety benefits, as well as general comments. Some of the subjective feedback noted through the course of this survey follows:

  - Cost savings may be in the range of 50 to 75 per cent compared to other designs when retrofitting an existing interchange site.
  - Construction time is typically reduced.

- 97 per cent of drivers felt safer compared to the previous diamond interchange (Missouri DOT survey).
- Crash data showed a 60 per cent reduction in collisions in a five-month comparison of the old interchange configuration (Missouri DOT).
- Only 11 reported minor crashes were reported within a five-year time span of implementation (Versailles, France).
- 95 per cent of drivers felt that there was less congestion compared to the previous diamond interchange (Missouri DOT survey).
- Mile long queues were eliminated.

(3) Advantages of the diverging diamond interchange (DDI)

- Fewer conflict points.
- Better sight distance at turns.
- Wrong way entry to ramps difficult.
- Ease of left and right turn movements.
- Increased capacity.
- Better vehicle storage between ramp and terminals.
- Shorter signal times required.
- Can synchronize signals at ramp terminals to minimize delays.
- U-turns can be easily accommodated.
- Typically requires less right-of-way.
- Construction time reduced.
- DDI design is cost effective and performs at an acceptable level of service.

To the Minister of Energy and Resources: The spill database (that shows more than 15,000 spills since 1990) has not been updated since 2013, when does the ministry plan to update it?

The subject spill database is no longer being updated and has been removed from the website, as the Ministry of the Economy will be replacing the old spill database system with a web-based system as part of the process renewal and infrastructure management enhancement (PRIME) project. During the new system development, it is necessary to freeze the data so that proper clean-up and conversion can take place so that tens of thousands of data elements can be uploaded to the new system. During this data freeze period, we are not able to extract data for internet posting. The new database should be ready in late 2015 or early 2016. The public and licensee can have access to spill information during the freeze period. The Ministry of the Economy has posted a complete set of information on its website. Anyone can access the entire digital copy of all the spill information the Ministry of the Economy holds in its files. Every spill that has been recorded by Ministry of the Economy dating back decades is available in .pdf and searchable by legal land description on the ministry website. To the Minister Responsible for Saskatchewan Power Corporation: (1) How many tonnes of CO2 were generated or produced (pre-capture) by Boundary Dam's Unit #3 in August 2014? (2) September 2014? (3) October 2014? (4) November 2014? (5) December 2014? (6) January 2015? (7) February 2015? (8) March 2015? (9) April 2015? (10) May 2015? (11) June 2015? (12) July 2015? (13) August 2015? September 2015	25,375	9,448
October 2015	79,988	0

Note 1: CO2 generated is not directly measured but is calculated based on average coal quality and the BD3 generating unit steam flow.

Note 2: CO2 produced when the CO2 capture plant is on-line an approximation based on the average daily CO2 generated (pre-capture) multiplied by the number of days in that month the capture plant is running. This represents the amount of CO2 that could have been captured in a given month.

Ms. Sproule, asked the government the following Question No. 1033, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Boyd:

To the Minister Responsible for Saskatchewan Power Corporation: (1) How many tonnes of CO2 were captured by Boundary Dam's Unit #3 in August 2014? (2) September 2014? (3) October 2014? Note 1: Tonnes captured are those that have been captured, compressed, and discharged into the pipeline. Amounts captured and then released during start-up and shut-down transient operations are not measured and are excluded.

Note 2: This is calculated by taking the actual total tonnes captured and dividing this by the average CO2 generated (pre-capture) and the number of days the capture plant was actually running. Is an indication of the average monthly capture plant capacity, when the capture plant is on-line.

To the Minister of Labour Relations and Workplace Safety: What are the new processes the Workers' Compensation Board has implemented to reduce the wait times for appeals to be heard by the Workers' Compensation Board?

Answer:

Some of the processes put in place by the Board to reduce wait times for appeals include the following:

- Board governance work has been restructured to concentrate those duties into blocks of time that do not conflict with the Board's appeal responsibilities, leaving more uninterrupted time to conduct hearings and review appeal files.
- Direct reports, who had previously met with the full Board, now meet with the Chair, alone, so that the remaining Board members still have quorum to proceed with appeal hearings, as required.
- The Board has moved to more issue-based executive summaries of appeal files, which reduces the time required to prepare and to review files for appeals.
- Board Services staff continue to review files in their entirety, so that if issues are identified in addition to the issue under appeal, those matters can be referred to the appropriate department for consideration or development, independent of the appeal. However, the original appeal is no longer held in abeyance, pending investigation of such additional issues.
- Hearings are now scheduled through a centralized electronic system instead of the previous manual system.
- The Board increased the number of days per week that it will conduct hearings (3 days instead of 2); and the number of hearings that it will conduct per day (3 or more, as demand dictates, from 2).
- The Board approved booking hearings with a quorum of any two members. The previous Board's practice had been to require that both the representative of workers and the representative of employers be present at every hearing.
- A cancellation list was established so that appellants, who can be available on short notice, can fill unexpected vacancies in the hearing schedule. The Board also reduced the advance notice that it requires for a hearing, from two weeks to one week. This provides more flexibility to move appeals into unexpected openings in the hearing schedule and ensures better utilization of those hearing opportunities.
- The Board authorized the creation of a six-month temporary Appeals Commissioner position. The Appeals Commissioner reviews files and, where he determines that the appeal should be accepted, he has authority to issue a decision to that effect. Where he does not recommend acceptance of the appeal, the file is returned to its original place in the appeal queue, to be prepared for review by the Board. Should the Appeals Commissioner identify any development issues, he refers the matter to the appropriate party to ensure that the file is as appeal ready as possible, when it is ready to be reviewed by the Board.

Mr. Forbes, asked the government the following Question No. 1057, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Morgan:
